Blueberry Rickety Eyeball Punch
Food Network Kitchens

Ingredients
- 12 to 24 fresh blueberries
- 12 canned lychees in syrup, drained, plus 5 to 6 Tbl. syrup from the can
- 3 cups blueberry juice cocktail
- 1/3 cup freshly squeezed lime juice (about 4 limes)
- 2 cups sparkling water
- Ice
- 3/4 cup gin, optional

Directions
Stick 1 to 2 blueberries into the cavity of each lychee. Place on a foil-lined baking sheet and freeze, about 1 hour.

In a bowl or pitcher, stir together 5 tablespoons of the lychee syrup, the blueberry juice and lime juice. If you like, stir in the gin. Stir in the sparkling water. If it is too tart for your taste, add the remaining tablespoon syrup.

Serve in tall glasses over ice, placing the eyeballs on top.

Atomic Cocktail

The Atomic Cocktail is a champagne cocktail that was popularized by the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce and casinos such as the Flamingo in the 1950s during a period of time when Vegas was known as the "Atomic City" and as a reaction to the popular culture of the atomic age. (Wikipedia)

Ingredients

1 1/2 oz. vodka
1 1/2 oz. V.S.O.P. Cognac (or brandy)
1 tsp medium amontillado sherry
1 1/2 oz. cold brut Champagne

Directions

Add the vodka, Cognac and sherry to a mixing glass with ice and stir. Strain into a chilled cocktail glass and top with the Champagne. Garnish with an orange twist.

Did you know that the eye has appeared in philately as a cancellation? The Truhsen-Marmor Museum of the Eye™ has a specimen issued by Brazil on Oct. 13, 1979. The cancellation concerns the prevention of blindness. It is a circle within which is an eye shape with the atomic symbol in the middle of the eye.

Your participation in the Orbital Gala and auction supports the preservation of ophthalmic history and the education of museum visitors for years to come.
